National Interop, Inc. Announces Additional Advisors Reuven Carlyle and Dr. Don Murray

PORTLAND, Ore., January 19, 2007– National Interop, Inc., a systems integrator of Radio over Internet Protocol (RoIP) technology for public safety agencies, announced today the addition of Reuven Carlyle and Dr. Don Murray to the company’s Board of Advisors.

Carlyle is a business development and public policy consultant, as well as an active entrepreneur. He has a successful track record in the wireless and software industries, including business development, sales, marketing and government relations positions with McCaw Cellular Communications/AT&T Wireless (T), Xypoint (TSYS), UIEvolution, Compelling Technologies and Twisted Pair Solutions. Carlyle earned a MPA from the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard and also worked in the Washington State Legislature. He also is an appointee of Governor Chris Gregoire to the Washington State Board for Community and Technical Colleges, the $1.2 billion agency overseeing the state’s 34 community colleges serving 460,000 students.

Don Murray, Ph.D., is a long-time organizational development consultant and president of his own consulting firm. Since 1973, he has conducted over one thousand workshops with executives at clients ranging in size from Fortune 100 giants to local, mid-size firms. Dr. Murray’s clients have included three of the top five Most Admired companies in America (in 2006), and five of the top 100 Best Places To Work in Oregon (in 2006).

“We are honored to have the benefit of the wisdom and deep experience of these two outstanding experts,” said National Interop founder CEO David Billstrom.

Carlyle and Dr. Murray join existing members of the Board of Advisors including General Merrill “Tony” McPeak, USAF Ret., Gary Glisson, Jack Lazar, David McShea, and Jamie Miller.
